High School Solo & Ensemble - Region IV

Dates for the Anchorage area have been set for Saturday February 25

Students - Ask your band directors for the applications then be sure to fill them out and turn them in by the deadline!

It's not too late....

For those of you that missed the deadline for subscriptions to Flute Talk and/or Smart Music, both companies have changed their subscription policies, so you can still subscribe! Just send an E-mail to Barbara Eberhart at B.Eberhart@AlaskaFluteStudies.com for info.

Members save $6 on their subscription to Flute Talk magazine

Members save $65 on their subscription to Smart Music. Now this is savings! You can order Smart Music as an individual for $90 or get the group rate through the Alaska Flute Studies Center for $25.

The Arctic Wind Flute Choir goes to New Zealand Tour update

We have never received such an enthusiastic welcome from anywhere we have ever toured before as we have from flutists in New Zealand! We are receiving e-mails from around the country with invitations, and requests that we come sooner and stay longer. The folks in New Zealand are setting up fabulous opportunities for the Arctic Wind Flute Choir. There will be concerts, classes and adventures as part of our international Concert/Adventure Tour and Cultural Exchange.

Don't forget you can help us make this trip possible by donating your garbage.

Help us raise funds by recycling inkjet cartridges, toner cartridges, cell phones, laptops (with cords) and pda's (like Palm Pilot). Just drop them off at the Alaska Flute Studies Center or call us and we'll arrange to pick them up 336-5991.

Dorli McWayne from Fairbanks has requested we post this notice of flutes for sale.

Barbara,

Do you know Tabatha Easley? She is an Anchorage born and bred flutist who studied with me at UAF and is now a doctoral student at Eastman. Maybe you can send this on to your Alaska Flute Studies people.

Thanks.

Dorli
